Plans on to defy weekend curfew

- Question of life and death, say stakeholders, businessmen
- Unanimously decide to open shops despite restrictions

Mysuru Zoo in city and Raja's Seat at Madikeri in Kodagu remained closed this morning following weekend curfew.

Mysuru/ Kodagu, Aug. 7 (RK, Akshay&BCT)- The State Government's decision to impose weekend curfew (from 9 pm on Friday to 5 am on Monday) in border districts of Mysuru, Kodagu and Chamarajanagar from Aug. 7 to 16 has caused a lot of heartburn among businessmen, especially in Mysuru and Kodagu.

They have called the decision unfair and said it will be a body blow to the already crumbling business scenario. Mysuru, Chamarajanagar and Kodagu districts have borders with Kerala and there are a couple of entry and exit points.

Stakeholders question Govt. logic: Stakeholders from over 32 organisations, including hotels, restaurants, tours and travel associations, who met in Hotel Pai Vista this noon, have urged the Government not to lock the city areas but instead, seal the inter-State borders. "There is no point in allowing unrestricted entry from borders while restricting business in the city areas," they said.

At the meeting, stakeholders said that they had cooperated with the Government in the previous lockdowns and also weekend curfew. They unanimously decided to oppose the Government move now and said they will defy the orders. "We will open our shops and business establishments as it is the question of life and death. We are ready to face arrest if the situation comes to that," they said.

'Whale vomit' worth Rs. 8.20 crore seized !

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (MTY&BCT)- The Mysuru Forest Department Flying Squad has seized ambergris, commonly known as 'whale vomit', worth around Rs. 8.20 crore from a group of people who were found selling it near Kushalnagar in Kodagu. Found floating in the tropical sea or at times settled on the coast, ambergris is in high demand in the international markets.

As per forest officials, this is the first time a group selling ambergris has been caught in the old Mysuru region. The four-member group was apprehended after an operation conducted by Forest Flying Squad and one more accused is absconding.

One kilogram of ambergris is worth Rs. 1 crore in the international market and here a seizure of 8.250 kgs has been made and as per the international market, the price would be Rs. 8.20 crore, said officials.

The accused have been identified as Riaz of Koynadu village in Kodagu, K.A. Ibrabhim of Hodavada village in Kodagu, B.E. Rafiq and Tahir Nakash of Seventh Hoskote at Kushalnagar in Kodagu and K.M. George of Kunnaparambail at Iriti village in Kannur district in Kerala.

The first accused Riaz is absconding and a dragnet has been spread to nab him.

Based on a tip off, the Forest Flying Squad intercepted a car in Kushalnagar and the occupants of the vehicle tried to flee the spot seeing the sleuths. The squad members, over 20 in number, managed to give chase and arrested the four accused while one managed to escape.

A Wagon-R car (KA-04-MD-8462) that was used to transport the ambergris and three mobile phones have been seized. The operation was led by DCF Ramakrishnappa, ACF Manohar Suvarna, RFO Vivek, DRFOs Lakshmisha, Sundar, Vinod Kumar, Pramod, Nagaraju, Sneha, Meghana and staff.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

A vaccine supply ramp up is expected in August. In mid-July, the Government placed an order for 660 million doses, the largest so far. Last month, the average jab rate was about 3.84 million doses a day. This has to be scaled up to close to 9.2 million doses a day if the Government hopes to meet its year-end target. However, we need to remember that while expanding the coverage of vaccination is the primary defence against COVID, it cannot be the only one. The spread of the virus is also influenced by variants.

Therefore, the vaccination drive needs to be backed by behaviour that arrests the spread of infection. Universal masking and banning unnecessary gatherings are unavoidable. Both messaging and enforcement by authorities need to be consistent. India needs to learn from experiences elsewhere. The most important takeaway here is that opening up of the economy will come with risks. Those risks however can be minimised if a country gets both its vaccination and behavioural strategies in place.

Rent paintings instead of buying them

Tokyo: Buying works of art can become an expensive habit, but what if you didn't have to buy the artworks and instead lease them for however long you wanted? That's the premise of an ingenious Japanese business that lets people rent paintings.

Casie is an innovative service that connects painters and art lovers in a whole new way. Instead of brokering the sale of artworks it offers clients the possibility of leasing them by the month. Apparently, this benefits both artists, who are able to generate more revenue from their works in the long term and clients, who get to keep the paintings until they get bored of them and decided to swap them for new ones.

Today, the company has an average monthly turnover of over 10 million yen (91,000 dollars) and works with a large number of painters, most of whom are extremely happy about the partnership.

Man lands in mental home by mistake

Honolulu: A homeless man was wrongfully arrested and locked up in a mental hospital for over two years, after being mistaken for a man he had never even met. Joshua Spriestersbach's nightmare began on a hot day in 2017, while waiting in line for food outside a homeless shelter in Honolulu. When Police woke him up, he thought he was being arrested for breaking the law. What Spriestersbach didn't realize was that the Police officer had somehow mistaken him for one Thomas Castleberry, who had a warrant out for his arrest for violating probation in a 2006 drug case. The fact that the two didn't even look similar didn't seem to matter to anyone, and instead of simply checking photographs or fingerprints of the two men, the homeless man simply became Castleberry.

MUDA, MCC Property Tax Payment

Site owner's woes

A worker is seen cleaning the vacant site.

Sir,

In continuation of U.B. Acharya's letter titled "Is MCC fleecing honest citizens?" (SOM dated Aug. 3), I wish to narrate my experience with the MUDA as well as the MCC.

For a 60x40 MUDA site at Rajivnagar (next to RTO), I had paid an exorbitant Rs. 6,100 as tax for 2020-21 as against Rs. 850 last year. When I sought a clarification at the MUDA Office, I was told that they had charged me with "site cleaning fee" of Rs. 4,800 which could be reimbursed provided I produce a photo of a cleaned up site with me (as owner) in front of it.

When I went to the site to take a picture as suggested, I found that a huge amount of debris was dumped on the site following road widening for an auto testing track by the RTO.

With all this, now I am not sure if the authorities will clean up the mess on my site and whether I can get back the "cleaning charges" that I have paid to MUDA. I am waiting for a positive response from MUDA for my written application on this matter.

In another 60x40 MCC site at Vijayanagar III Stage, I had to pay a similar hefty tax amount of Rs. 8,285 including "cleaning charges" (Rs. 4,800) for this year. The property has a watchman shed and two cars belonging to the neighbours are always parked in the site which goes to prove that the site is well-maintained.

When I sought to clarify at the MCC Zonal Office near Akashavani Circle, the reply I received was that it was all Government order and nothing can be done.

Unlike MUDA, there is not even a provision in MCC to get the "cleaning charges" reimbursed, according to the Zonal Officer who spoke to me.

I feel that honest and regular tax-payers are being somewhat fleeced by such irrational tax hikes. As an honest tax-paying citizen, I would expect some uniformity in the rules by MUDA and MCC in this matter and inform the public appropriately.

One more stage added at Rangayana to hold theatre activities

Minister Somashekar to open 'B.V. Karanth Ranga Chavadi' on Aug. 9

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (RKB&SSV)- District in-Charge Minister S.T. Somashekar will inaugurate 'B.V. Karanth Ranga Chavadi' on Aug. 9 at 11 am, said Mysuru Rangayana Director Addanda C. Cariappa.

Addressing a news conference here yesterday, he said this Ranga Chavadi has been created in recognition of the rich contribution of 'Ranga Bhishma' B.V. Karanth who strove hard for the development of this theatre repertory to promote theatre in the State. This Chavadi has been created out of very small expenditure without seeking financial assistance from the State Government but with the help from of donors, and by using the own resources of the repertory. The Chavadi will be helpful for students of Bharatiya Ranga Shikshana (BRS) to learn yoga, martial arts and folklore along with other regular theatre related learning. Many art and cultural programmes could be held in this new facility, he added.

Cariappa said that the Chavadi has been built at a cost of Rs. 8 lakh and has basic facilities. Plans are afoot to add the gallery for spectators. Noted theatre activities, Jairam Patil of Mysuru has extended his co-operation in the completion of this project.

On Aug. 9, Minister Somashekar will open this Chavadi. MLA L. Nagendra, MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev and Jairam Patil will participate during the inaugural. He (Cariappa) will preside over the function and Joint Director V.N. Mallikarjunaswamy will be present, added the Rangayana Mysuru Director.

On the same day evening, the 'Chavadi Sageetha' has been organised in which Ramachandra Hadpad will perform. At 7.15 pm, there will be Taala Maddale programme on 'Bhishmarjuna Kalaga' by Sri Anjaneya Mahila Yakshagana Sangha, Puttur.

Staging of plays

In connection with platinum celebrations of India's Independence Day, he said, three dramas are planned for learning of which Macbeth of William Shakespeare is ready and two others will be ready during the current month.

On August 11 at 6.30 pm, as part of learning, BRS students will be staging a drama 'Kadadida Neeru' written by G.B. Joshi and directed by Manju Kasargodu at Sriranga.

On the eve of Independence Day, patriotic songs will be presented by BRS students at the Chavadi at 6.30 pm. This will be the first 'Raaga Rangayana' after the Corona crisis. As part of learning, students will present a drama 'Tamra Patra' written by Debashish Majumdar and directed by Apoorva Anagalli on August 15 at 6.30 pm at the Ranga Chavadi. This drama revolves around a freedom fighter.

Street plays

A 10-day training camp has been started by the Scheduled Castes artistes to stage street plays to create awareness on the tenets of the Constitution, as part of Special Composite Planning of Department of Kannada and Culture. It is directed by Katyayini. After 10 days of training, they will stage the street dramas for ten days by visiting various places in city. They will stage drama twice a day. All these programmes will be shown live on the Rangayana website and Facebook. The COVID guidelines are strictly followed, he added.

Loss to Rangayana

Rangayana has suffered huge loss due to lockdown following COVID-19 pandemic. The grants from the State Government to theatre repertory have now reduced to Rs. 60 lakh from the earlier Rs. 3 crore to Rs. 4 crore. This has made them to manage Ranayana. The electricity bill will be around Rs. 1.5 lakh for three months due to staging of dramas and training for students, Cariappa said.

The Rangayana earned Rs. 9 lakh by staging seven shows of Dr. S.L. Bhyrappa's 'Parva.' They were supposed to stage more shows but that did not happen due to COVID lockdown. There is a thinking to hold more shows if the Government guidelines are convenient to hold public performances, he noted.

Takes exception

Cariappa flayed University of Mysore (UoM) for not including the subjects on theatre and drama in K-SET held last month. There was a subject under the head Performing Arts which included theatre, drama, music and dance. But 85 percent of questions were pertained to dance and music but nothing on drama or theatre.

There were questions on westerners but nothing on the history of Kannada and its development. "I will condemn this decision of the Varsity on behalf of Rangayana artistes. Such mistakes must not be repeated in future," he said.

Malnourished children rehabilitation centre now turns children-friendly

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (MK&DM)- The malnourished children rehabilitation centre at Cheluvamba Hospital in the city has now turned into a child-friendly ward, wherein children are getting nutritious food and play time.

Child Fund India has joined hands with HOPE, an NGO, in bringing about a transformation to the Cheluvamba Hospital centre. The child-friendly ward has been made more attractive with paintings on walls that fascinate children and adults alike.

Apart from paintings on the stages of growth of children, the wall paintings also include drawings of a variety of vegetables, educative information on hygiene and nutritious food, tales from Chhota Bheem and wild animals. The ward now also has many child play equipment that are found in parks.

The malnourished children rehabilitation centre was opened at Cheluvamba Hospital in 2013, according to the Hospital's Medical Superintendent Dr. Sudha Rudrappa. This centre, which has now been transformed into a child-friendly ward, has a Doctor, two Nurses, a Dietician and cooking staff, she said and added that the cause of malnutrition will be explained to the parents and will be suitably advised on nutrient rich foods.

Cheluvamba Hospital's Resident Medical Officer (RMO) Dr. Rajendra Kumar said that 40 malnourished children from the districts of Mysuru, Chamarajanagar, Mandya, Kodagu and Hassan are getting admitted here in a month and so far in August, nine children have got admitted.

Each child admitted at the centre will be taken care of for about 10 to 14 days and the mother of each child will get Rs. 275 per day as stay and care allowance. The monetary assistance is being provided to ensure that no mother, who works as a labourer, is deprived of her earnings. The money will be directly credited to the Bank Account of the mother, he said.

Continuing, he said that the transformed centre has 10 beds, where severely malnourished children and children suffering from anaemia will be admitted and taken care of. After about two weeks of care, the children will be discharged, when the mothers will be given a prescription on the nature of food to be given for her child.

Nurse Jyothi of the Centre said that every child will be given nutritious food including milk and egg, three times a day. Also, the mothers will be taught on preparation of nutrition rich foods such as sweet laddu, kichdi, mixed vegetable dish etc., she added.

Want Olympic Gold ? Then Fund sports

Interest in sports, other than cricket, is a seasonal affair in our country. Now that the Olympic Games are here, there is patriotism-driven interest rather than love for a sport. But that's ok, for we as a nation are slowly but surely heading towards being a sporty one.

In the last few years, a certain sense of viability has crept into sports and allied activities as sportsmen are getting sponsors more easily than before, as private companies are getting involved to create viable leagues and the government too has a positive attitude towards sports.

For too long now politics, bureaucracy and funding have been the biggest hurdles in the development of sports.

As we celebrate Indian hockey's success after 41 years, some of us may recall the then Indian Hockey Federation chief, K.P.S. Gill, who in his 14 years as chief wreaked havoc on the sport. Gill even sacked the legendary forward Dhanraj Pillay, the coach and several other players after they had just won gold at the 1998 Asian Games because they asked for a salary raise.

In fact, during his tenure, Gill sacked 18 coaches and destroyed the careers of many players. When Gill was once asked about the debacle of the hockey team, he said, "The team has lost. I have not."

In 1995, during the SAF Games, P. T. Usha, one of India's greatest female athletes, was the designated flag-bearer. But during the opening ceremony, a shameless official snatched the flag from her in full public view and walked forth. In Rio Olympics 2016 the Indian sports officials did not even arrange water for marathon runner O.P. Jaisha, who collapsed of dehydration and who later said "All countries had their stalls at every 2kms but our country's stall was empty". This clearly shows our sports associations and federations are run like public sector units and just like many PSUs, these sports federations are sick and dying.

In 2014 after BJP came to power, we thought things would change, but two years later in the 2016 Olympics we could not provide our athletes uniforms in time to be worn at the inaugural ceremony! Also our bureaucrats flew in business class while athletes were put in economy. Worse, when the bureaucrats were asked to state their purpose of visit, the reply was: "To cheer and study infrastructure."

But a lot seems to have changed since then, and some credit has to be given to the present government for that. First there was the 'Target Olympic Podium (TOP)' Scheme launched in 2015 to help potential medal possibilities for the Olympic Games of 2016 and 2020. Obviously 2016 was bad, but the medal tally will tell us if 2021 was better.

In 2016 the government launched the 'Khelo India' Scheme, meant to increase mass participation of youth in sports. The next year a Sports Talent Search Portal was created where anyone could upload their sporting achievements and if they were good they would be shortlisted, called for trials and the qualified candidates then take part in the schemes of the Sports Authority of India (SAI).

The same year, the Empowered Steering Committee (ESC) was formed on the recommendations of the Olympic Task Force. This Committee's job is to prepare an action plan for Indian players in the Olympic Games of 2021 (Tokyo), 2024 (Paris), and 2028 (Los Angeles). Whether all this will bear medals we'll know in time, but for now there is definitely a sense of "sincerity" to achieve this.

Pursuing any sport is more than just talent and hard work, it requires good equipment, periodic purchase of new gear, medical assistance, physical therapy, recovery and nutrition. All this costs money. There is ample proof that money "well spent" produces athletes of international calibre.

The girl who beat P.V. Sindhu in 2016, the Spanish shuttler Carolina Marin, is from a nation of just a few million where, just like in India, the sports scene is hogged by football and tennis. In fact, Carolina did not even have a sparring partner, that's how few people play badminton there! Yet, like a one-woman Spanish armada she has destroyed the dominance of the Chinese in badminton.

How did she do it? With the help of good infrastructure, good coaches, good support staff, good equipment and good nutrition... and all these good things cost money which the Spanish have spent on their athletes.

After the Barcelona Olympics, the Spanish government and the private sector spent a lot of money to retain the sports infrastructure they had built and on athletes they felt had potential, and today they have the richest football club in the world, they have won the famed cycling event 'Tour de France' four times, they have won 5 of the 12 tennis Davis Cups, they won silver in Basketball at Beijing and have 5 players in the famed American Basketball league.

In 2016 this tiny nation won medals from badminton to swimming to weightlifting! All this from a nation with a population of just about 5 crore, less than Karnataka! Same thing with the tiny nation of South Korea who today stands number 14 in the Tokyo medals tally! How? Simple, money well "invested."

There is another example close home that proves money well-invested bears result, the Gopichand Academy. In 2003, the then Andhra Pradesh CM N. Chandrababu Naidu gave Gopichand five acres of land on a 45-year lease. But Gopichand did not have money to build infrastructure. He asked for sponsorship but no one saw potential. Then Nimmagadda Prasad, former owner of Matrix Pharmaceuticals, donated Rs. 5 crore — that's why it's named Puellela Gopichand Nimmagadda Foundation Badminton Academy. Gopichand built a world-class facility and today is producing world-class shuttlers.

Recently the Union Sports Ministry announced 143 Khelo India Centres (KIC). Spread across seven States in its endeavour to be among the top-10 countries in the 2028 Olympics. For this the allocated budget was a meagre Rs. 14.30 crore!

India will not be able to develop Olympic podium finishers with these meagre budgets. Rs. 14.3 crore is less than what a top IPL player makes in one season and you are budgeting this for multiple sports in 143 centres across a country of a billion!

As we continue to suffer from 'Medal Deficit Syndrome' at the Olympics, we can take solace in the fact that it is amazing that most of our athletes, who come from tough backgrounds, have even made it this far. But then the harsh reality is... is this is as far as they will ever go? Or will the government be pragmatic about funding sports so that Indian athletes reach their full potential and deliver Gold in the next Olympics?

'Whale vomit' worth Rs. 8.20 crore seized !

A special team has been formed to trace from where the accused got hold of the ambergris. The team will also probe the possible connection between the accused and a network of smugglers from Kerala and overseas.

What is ambergris?

Ambergris is a waxy substance produced by sperm whales. It is a costly substance used in high-end perfumes and aphrodisiac products. Forest officials said whales come under Schedule 2 of the Wildlife Protection Act and ambergris is considered as an "uncured trophy" of the largest mammal. It is illegal to possess or trade in any of its by-products in the country. Sperm whales are a protected species, hunting of the whale is not allowed. Ambergris is a brownish substance that forms in the abdomen of whales, and they vomit it. It is highly valued by perfume-makers as a fixative that allows the scent to endure much longer. In Japan and China, it is also used in some aphrodisiac products. Many countries prohibit the hunting of whales and the trade of their by-products.

"Instead of announcing a sudden lockdown, the Government could insist on mandatory RT-PCR negative certificates and also fully vaccinated certificates. Also, the borders could have been sealed only to allow emergency cases," they said.

Social media campaign

As soon as the restrictions were imposed yesterday, a social media campaign began in the city under the banner of Mysuru Businessmen and Merchants Federation and they took objection to the Government's decision to impose the restrictions despite the COVID-19 cases and the Test Positivity Rate showing a declining trend.

In separate media statements, stakeholders said that they were upset with the new restrictions. B.S. Prashanth, President of Dasara Committee of Karnataka Tourism Society, said that the decision will hit many businesses in Mysuru who are on the path of recovery.

"There is no justification to the Government's logic behind imposing weekend curfew at a time when the daily cases are below 100. Moreover, in Mysuru, over 80 percent of the adult population is vaccinated. Weekend curfew was justified if the cases were spiralling and if the situation was uncontrollable," he said.

Seal the borders

Prashanth demanded that instead of shutting down the businesses in the city areas, the administration must seal the borders with other States. "Only this measure will be helpful and the present decision is in no way beneficial," he said.

President of Mysuru Hotel Owners Association C. Narayanagowda said that the city areas must open while keeping the borders closed. "Almost all the businessmen in Mysuru are reflecting similar sentiments and the Government must reconsider its decision. We are already reeling under COVID and lockdown. This decision is detrimental to the lives of lakhs of people dependent on the industry," he said.

Kodagu Hotel and Resort Owners Association President Nagendra Prasad told Star of Mysore that the decision of weekend curfew will only harm the tourism and travel industry. "I don't understand why the Government is in a panic mode when the cases have come down and many people are vaccinated. All the tourist spots in Kodagu are closed today and tomorrow. The Government must seal the borders instead of closing the entire district," he added.

Sreenivasa Prasad's political career taint-free: P.G.R. Sindhia

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (SBD&DM)- Former Minister P.G.R. Sindhia said that Chamarajanagar MP V. Sreenivasa Prasad's political journey was free of any taint.

He was speaking after releasing V. Sreenivasa Prasad's book titled 'Naanu Yedurisida 14 Chunavanegala Avalokana' (A review of the 14 elections that I fought), brought out jointly by Samaanathe, Swabhimaana, Swavalambane Prathishtana and Samaanathe Prakashana marking his (Prasad's) 75th birthday, at a programme organised at Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Research and Studies Centre at Manasagangothri here yesterday.

MP V. Sreenivasa Prasad and his wife Bhagyalakshmi, who were felicitated at Manasagangothri in city yesterday, are seen with former Minister P.G.R. Sindhia and others.

Stating that he has studied Sreenivasa Prasad's book twice, Sindhia said that he was left wondering how Prasad, who does not have the habit of writing a diary, could remember so many things and incidents during the 14 elections (9 Lok Sabha and 5 Assembly polls) that he fought and pen them down in the book. Contending that the book is useful for students who are interested in political studies, Sindhia, however, said that he finds the book incomplete as there are no details of facts about the present day electoral politics.

Noting that Prasad has not written against anyone in his book, Sindhia said that Prasad, who has been targeting former CM and current Opposition Leader Siddharamiah, has not criticised him in the book. Stating that maintaining purity in public life for nearly five decades is not a simple thing, he observed that leaders like Prasad should continue to be in Parliament or Legislative Assembly. As such, Prasad should remain in politics for some more time, he opined.

Recalling his own experience in electoral politics, Sindhia said that he spent just Rs. 3,000 when he first contested the Assembly elections from Kanakapura in 1983. But he does want to say how much he spent when he contested the elections for the sixth time two decades later, he said while underlining the exponential growth of money being spent by candidates in elections.

Arguing that there should be changes in the electoral system to check corruption and other electoral malpractices, he bemoaned the huge spending by candidates during elections.

Asserting that Prasad was not limited to just two districts of Mysuru and Chamrajanagar, Sindhia shared the political journey that he had along with Sreenivasa Prasad, Jeevaraj Alva, Ramesh Bandagadde and others during emergency and Janata Parivar days.

Former University of Mysore faculty Dr. H.M. Rajashekar, who spoke about the book, said that Sreenivasa Prasad was a born political leader and developed leadership qualities at an young age, which is why he was elected multiple times in polls.

Pointing out that Prasad won five out of the nine times that he contested the Lok Sabha polls and two out of the six Assembly polls that he fought, Rajashekar said that the book is like a political guide for netas.

Contending that Prasad was not merely a politician, but also an educationist and a writer, he urged the UoM to accord an Honorary Doctorate degree on Prasad.

MP V.Sreenivasa Prasad and his wife Bhagyalakshmi were felicitated on the occasion.

Life normal despite sudden weekend curfew in city

▶ Only some areas wore deserted look

▶ Tipplers rush to liquor stores to refill stocks

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (KS)- Though ther State Government announced its decision of weekend curfew in Mysuru yesterday afternoon, life remained normal on most of the city areas last night. Only some areas wore a deserted look, while business flourished in Central Business District (CBD).

The decision to impose weekend curfew in eight border districts from Friday 9 pm to Monday 5 am was taken by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai late afternoon yesterday.

Confused, whether the District Administration would issue a circular in this regard, shopkeepers and roadside eateries, with no proper communication from the authorities had opened the shops and conducted business even after 9 pm, till the Police asked them to close down and informed them about the weekend curfew notification by the State Government.

People thronged almost all chat shops and fast food joints across the city. Roadside vendors too conducted business as usual. While most shops downed shutters on Devaraj Urs Road, a few shops continued the business. More traffic was also witnessed on city road with traffic jams on some prominent roads.

Tipplers throng liquor shops

Booze lovers, after getting confirmation on the imposition of weekend curfew, thronged various wine stores across city to refill their weekend booze stock.

Meanwhile, a few people said that they had no information about the sudden imposition of night curfew in city and added that imposition of such rules should be made before a day or two so that the rules would be known to all and get prepared for it.

But the sudden announcement of night curfew had caused confusion and many had no idea about it as they leave for work in the morning. Awareness to public on the rules has to be created so that it would enable everyone to follow it, they opined.

The Government should give time for the people to prepare themselves for the curfew as a majority of people come to city to earn their daily bread and this sudden imposition of curfew will cause a lot of inconvenience to all.

Zoo, Karanji Lake, Rail Museum closed

Mysuru, Aug. 7- Mysuru Zoo and Karanji Lake will remain closed today and tomorrow (Aug. 7 and Aug. 8) in view of the weekend curfew declared by the State Government in Mysuru.

The Mysuru Rail Museum will also remain closed on Saturdays and Sundays till the COVID-induced restrictions are in place in the city. The Rail Museum will however be open to visitors on all other weekdays except Tuesdays, according to a press release from the South Western Railways.

'Ashada' rituals atop Chamundi Hill conclude

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (MTY&SSV)- Curtains came down on the month-long 'Ashada' puja atop Chamundi Hill yesterday. This time, the rituals were restricted due to COVID-19 pandemic and held within the premises of Sri Chamundeshwari Temple. The hill top that was bustling with devotees every year, wore a deserted look this time with restriction on devotees.

The special puja begun at 3.30 am with Chief Priest Shashishekar Dixit performing abhisheka, rudrasbhisheka and pushparchane. The temple doors were opened at 6 am. As per tradition, the local residents had the darshan of Goddess. The procession of the Goddess was held within the temple premises at 9.15 am and the temple was closed at 10 am.

Hundreds of devotees from various districts returned disappointed as the Cops did not allow any person to reach the hill top. The barricades were put 500 meters away from the steps to prevent the people from reaching the top through stairs.

The District Administration has imposed restriction not only during weekends but also on public holidays to check the spread of pandemic. In view of this, the main entrance at the hill top has been closed for devotees till 6 am on Monday. The barricades are put up at various entry points —Tavarekere, Nandi Road and Uttanahalli — and also locked the gate at the entrance to the steps at the foothill.

Flag, nameplates distributed to BJP booth-level presidents

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (RKB & AK)- Under the direction of BJP State Unit, MLA S.A. Ramdas yesterday handed over BJP flags to booth-level presidents across K.R. Constituency. A total of 270 booth-level presidents were given flags and name plates to their houses.

Before launching the event, Ramdas offered flowers to the photos of Pandit Deendayal Upadhyaya and Dr. Syama Prasad Mukherjee.

Meanwhile 269th Booth level President of Mahesh took oath as the President of Ward No. 53, Alanahalli. "Prime Minister and Chief Minister's positions are on top in any Government. But in BJP, booth-level Presidents are given equal importance and encouraged to organise the party. Central and State Government schemes will be reached to 2,000 members," said Mahesh.

Speaking on the occasion, Ramdas said that on Nov 16, 2020, BJP State President Nalin Kumar Kateel had launched this programme during his visit to the city.

"BJP flags and name plates were distributed to booth Presidents of Krishnamurthypuram Ward by Kateel. Booth-level presidents are the main pillars of the party. They are not only required during elections and they are considered as our family members. Many Presidents prayed for me in Churches, Temples and Masjids to make me a Minister from MLA. In order to thank each of them, name plates and flag will be handed over to them," Ramdas said.

K.R. Constituency has always been on a frontline when it comes to organising the party. Also, schemes of Central and State Governments should be implemented first in the Constituency, he added.

BJP K.R. Constituency President M. Vadivelu, General Secretaries M. Srinivas, Nagendra Kumar, Vinay Panchajanya, Corporator Dr.Roopa and others were present on the occasion.

Minister Munirathna seeks Suttur Seer's blessings

Mysuru. Aug. 7 (YDS&AK)- "I am ready to accept any portfolio that helps the poor and the State," said Minister S.T. Munirathna.

During his visit to Suttur Mutt near the foot of Chamundi Hill yesterday, Munirathna took the blessings of Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji.

Speaking to the media, he said, "Because of my good deeds done in my previous life, I am getting an opportunity to become a Minister. During the time of COVID, our Government has taken better decisions which will help in controlling the spread of COVID in future. Do not blame the Government for imposing lockdown, as the Government is trying to control COVID from reaching the extreme level. I request people to co-operate by following COVID rules," he said.

When Munirathna was asked whether frenemies (Friends becoming enemies) have increased or not, he said, "Enemy within us, enemy outside and frenemies all are important in life. Without friends and enemies life will be empty, so one should learn to balance life with enemies. I have become a Minister a bit late. S.T. Somashekar had become the Minister before me and I will be meeting him soon", he added.

WORD OF THE DAY

Jeremiad

Pronunciation: jair-uh-MYE-ud.
Meaning: A prolonged lamentation or complaint; also: a cautionary or angry harangue.
Origin: Jeremiah was a Jewish prophet, who lived from about 650 to 570 B.C. and spent his days lambasting the Hebrews for their false worship and social injustice and denouncing the king for his selfishness, materialism, and inequities. When not calling on his people to quit their wicked ways, he was lamenting his own lot; a portion of the biblical Book of Jeremiah is devoted to his "confessions," a series of lamentations on the hardships endured by a prophet with an unpopular message. Nowadays, English speakers use Jeremiah for a pessimistic person and jeremiad for the way these Jeremiahs carry on. The word jeremiad was borrowed from the French, who coined it as jérémiade.
Example: The news story was a scathing jeremiad against the invasion of privacy on celebrities.

THE ODD WORD

Jamb

Metal leg-armour.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Jump on the bandwagon

Meaning: To start doing something because it is fashionable or profitable.
The act of joining others in support of something that is likely to be successful; aligning yourself with something that is fashionable; to join a cause or movement as it grows in popularity.
Origin: [America 1899]. Phineas T. Barnum, a circus owner, and showman was the first to coin the word bandwagon. He first mentioned the term in his autobiography titled The Life of P.T. Barnum as a description of the wagon that carried around the band, 1855: "At Vicksburg we sold all our land conveyances excepting four horses and the 'band wagon'." Circuses were extremely popular at the time and always attracted a crowd. Politicians of the day were quick to realise this and began using these bandwagons as part of their electoral campaigns. Although Barnum didn't invent the exact phrase "jump on the bandwagon," which came later, he did have a hand in some other additions to the English language. In 1899 Theodore Roosevelt — the 26th President of the United States, made a clear reference to this practice in a passage contained in his 'Letters' he wrote: "When I once became sure of one majority they tumbled over each other to get aboard the bandwagon."

TOKYO GAMES 2020 (July 23 - August 8)

Golfer Aditi Ashok narrowly misses historic medal, finishes 4th

Tokyo, Aug. 7- Aditi Ashok narrowly missed out on becoming the first Indian golfer to win a medal at the Olympics, finishing fourth in Tokyo this morning.

She was in medal contention for much of the four rounds but fell agonisingly short, finishing a shot behind Japan's Mone Inami and Lydia Ko of New Zealand, who were tied for the silver medal.

She finished only two shots behind the gold medal winner Nelly Korda of USA. Aditi finished with a score of 269 with 15-under par to finish fourth overall after four rounds in the women's individual stroke play event.

Aditi had a stellar run throughout the women's individual stroke play event. In Round 1, she shot four-under 67 to finish second along with USA's world number one Nelly Korda. Sweden's Madalene Sagstrom was in the lead after the opening round, scoring five-under 66.

In the second round, Aditi managed to score five-under 66 to keep her second place intact. Sagstrom fell behind with a three-under finish while Korda finished Round 2 with nine-under to take the lead.

Aditi, ranked 200, continued her fine form and registered a three-under 68 to stay in medal contention after the completion of Round three in the women's golf event at the Tokyo Olympics.

At the last Olympic Games in Rio, Aditi was a teenager and she had finished 41 in the women's individual event.

India waiting for Gold...

One of India's bright medal contenders in the Tokyo 2020 Olympics, Neeraj Chopra on Wednesday last qualified for the final of the javelin throw event with a stunning first attempt of 86.65m. The 23-year-old left the javelin arena after his first throw, having secured his place in the final quite easily. Ahead of the men's javelin throw finals today (Aug. 7), sand artist from Puri, Odisha — Manas Kumar Sahoo — celebrated the youngster's achievements and wished him good luck by creating a beautiful sand structure of the athlete. The men's javelin throw finals is scheduled for today at 4.30 pm IST.

Wrestler Bajrang Punia goes down in semis

To play for bronze this evening

Tokyo, Aug. 7- Indian wrestler Bajrang Punia lost the men's 65kg freestyle semi-final to Azerbaijan's Haji Aliyev on Friday.

Bajrang lost 5-12 in a bout in which Aliyev set the pace.

After the first period, Aliyev led 4-1 and it was down to Bajrang to make the moves to reduce the deficit. In the second period, the Azerbaijan wrestler got hold of Bajrang's legs and went on a point-scoring spree to take a 8-1 lead. Bajrang did score four points later in the bout but Aliyev again extended his lead by seven points and eventually won the bout to seal a berth in the gold medal match.

Bajrang will now fight for the bronze medal later in the day today (Aug. 7).

Seema Bisla

It was a disappointing day for the Indian wrestlers as both Bajrang Punia and Seema Bisla failed to make it to the gold medal bout.

Seema had lost her opening bout to Sarra Hamdi. She soon found herself out of reckoning for repechage as Hamdi lost her quarterfinal bout.

Gokulam residents seek conservation of play ground

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (SBD&DM)- Residents of Gokulam recently submitted a memorandum to MLA L. Nagendra urging him to save the spacious play ground in Gokulam third stage.

Strongly opposing MUDA's move to construct Group Housing Project at this play ground, the residents said that the playground, having more than three-acre area, is ideally located near the MysoreOne Centre close to Doctors Corner at Gokulam and this playground should be retained at any cost.

Upon receiving the memorandum, MLA Nagendra assured of raising the issue at the next MUDA meeting, during which he will also persuade the officials not to take up any construction works on the playground.

Local Corporator SBM Manju was also present.

Earlier, the residents held a meeting at the playground to discuss the issue, during which it was resolved not to allow MUDA to execute its Group Housing Project at the site.

Former Corporators Girish Prasad and Suresh Babu, Dr. Bapat, Dr. Harindra, Dr. Narasimhan, Dr. Tarakram, Dinesh, Madhu and others were attended.
